THE BROWN EGG STORE...

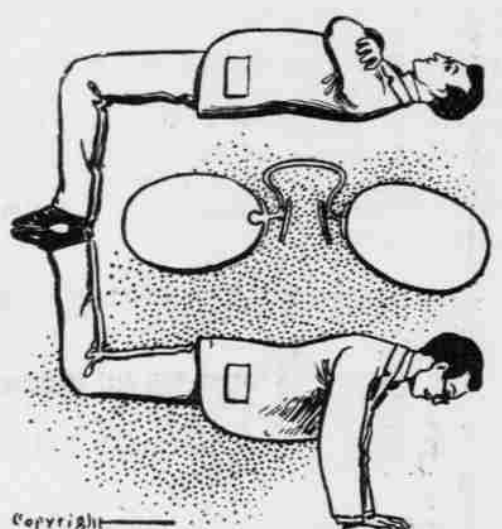

Special Silver Sale.

And we mean that both the sale and the silver are special. The sale is so because there's such an opportunity offered in the prices; the silver because it's so good and so plenty. We really didn't know we had so much—that's one reason for selling. Look at our showing and think what your table needs.

You will attend the Peerless sale. When you get tired of the bustle and hurry just step into Lang's Jewelry Store, next door, and rest yourself by looking at our fine display of jewelry. Our stock at this time of the year is complete as we buy so much for the holidays. If a low price will tempt you to buy and you are in need of anything in the jewelry line or silverware, we mean what we say when we say, we give you a low price, from 10 to 20 per cent discount.

Hiram McLellan, a widely known and highly respected citizen of this town, died of pneumonia last Thursday morning at 6 o'clock. He had suffered from a heart trouble for some time. Mr. McLellan was born in Sheffield, Nov. 10, 1818, and was the son of John McLellan. His mother's maiden name was Hannah Jenness. He was the oldest of seven children and the last to go. His parents moved to Glover in 1820. Oct. 15, 1856 he married Emily A. Dwinell, who survives him. They had three children, Nellie, Hannah and John, the latter being the only one now living. His earlier years were spent on his farm. Later he was engaged in mercantile and mill business, and was president of Barton National bank for 27 years. The last years of his life were spent quietly at home with his wife and son John and family, from whom he received loving care. He was a very successful business man and financier and accumulated a large property. He was a man of sound judgment and keen business insight and was one of the wealthiest and most influential men in Orleans county. His familiar figure will be missed by old and young. Notwithstanding his advanced age he retained his mental faculties to a remarkable degree and was able to attend to his financial business the day before he died. He was a great reader and kept well informed in regard to all the leading events which transpired during the latter part of his life. Much sympathy is expressed for his family. Funeral services were held at his residence Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Warner of Barton officiating.
